

1) Skill acquisition – skill requirements for the tasks were consistently seen off on, because it has four strings instead of six'.

as the easiest instrument to play well / it's very easy to start a. Assumption that women will be drawn to instrument with lower in Clavson's sample).

learning curve due to starting to play later. (median age 19, vs 13 for men)

2) Demand/value/power of base players is fairly small-high-demand, and allow you to play in bands.

Quoting the ony emphasis that progress for women requires low prestige and rejection of their jobs by men. 'The boss has been as the resort of failed guitar players'.

b. The guitar retains prestige. 'The guitar is the star'.

• Double-edged sword -

respondents of both genders

not that more nixed bands

getbooked.

• Rockopen-mindedness.

• But, Claws on asks: is this

because women occupy

novelty status only?

Tyler Lebens / June 13, 2017 / Music, News

All-Male Band Just Waiting to Meet the Right Girl Bassist

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Members of the all-male threepiece Wrecker Ocean are waiting for a female bass guitarist to make their lineup, and “souls,” complete, confirmed sources close to the band.